+An Affirmation of Faith (Christian Stewardship)

“Christian stewardship acknowledges that all of life and creation is a trust from God, to be used for God’s glory and service. It includes the conservation and responsible use of natural resources as well as the creative use of human skills and energies. These gifts of God are to be shared with all, especially with the poor.

The motive for Christian stewardship is gratitude for God’s abundant love and mercy, accompanied by the desire to share all of God’s good gifts with others.

God gives to the human family a variety of gifts, including gifts to each person for which each person has responsibility. God desires that each person engage in the mutual sharing of these gifts so that all may be enriched.

Proportionate and regular giving of all that God entrusts to the human family is an act of devotion and a means of grace. Giving to and through the church is the privilege of every believer. Tithing as a scriptural guide for giving, is an adventure of faith and a rich and rewarding practice. The tithing not only experiences the grace of God but even the grace of sharing.

All believers are responsible to God and to the covenant community for their stewardship.” (Confession of Faith, 6.10-6.14, pp. 17-18)
